

AN ENCOUNTER IN COAL FIELDS

Five Men Fall in Encounter Between Officers and Angry Miners

FOUR OF BAND KILLED

Reported That 1,500 Armed Men Were in Waiting for the Troopers

State Police Headquarters, Ethel, N. Y., Aug. 28.—Five men fell in an encounter early this morning between an armed band and state troopers on the Boone-Logan county line, near the Boone-Logan county line, Capt. J. R. Brockus, commanding state police and deputy sheriff reported this afternoon.

There was much shooting on either side, he said. Whether all the men who fell were killed, Capt. Brockus was unable to state. He added that after his men had seen those who had fallen picked up and carried away by their companions, the state troopers and deputies retired because some of their number were in civilian clothes and it was difficult to distinguish them in the darkness from the men comprising the armed band. The clash was at close range according to Capt. Brockus reports, the men firing at each other when but eight to ten feet apart.

Prior to the fight Capt. Brockus said, eleven prisoners had been taken by the patrolling party which set out toward Blair and Shartles. Four of the prisoners escaped during the encounter, he was said, and one of them is believed to have been killed.

Capt. Brockus was at the head of the advance guard of troopers and deputies. It was this detachment, comprising of twelve men, that engaged the armed band. The patrol, while proceeding toward Shartles, Capt. Brockus reported, ran across five men on foot. All were armed with rifles and one had a shot gun, he said.

"We called upon these men to disarm which they did," the Captain continued. "We placed them under arrest and proceeded down the road. Further on we met two automobiles and placed six additional armed men under arrest."

"With the eleven prisoners we marched toward Shartles and came upon another squad of five armed men. Someone called to us that we would not be allowed to pass. We called upon them to surrender their arms but received in reply a volley of fire."

"Our men returned the fire and in the fight five men fell to the ground. We waited until we saw that they were picked up and carried away, and then decided to discontinue the advance for the present. It was very dark and some of our deputies were in civilian clothes, hampering our distinguishing them."

Capt. Brockus could not definitely state whether the five men were killed but said that "probably four" were killed.

"We learned from Shartles that there were between 1,500 and 2,000 armed miners waiting for us to walk into a trap," Capt. Brockus said, "and if we had advanced it seems assured a very serious situation would have developed."

All along the way, the state police office said, "potshots" were being taken at the officers from men hidden in houses and in ambush.

Deputy Sheriffs Captured

Charleston, W. Va., Aug. 28.—Possibility of serious trouble in the Blair-Shartles region of Logan county was intimated in a telephone message to Gov. Morgan today, he announced early tonight. Half an hour after the Governor made this announcement, Adjutant General John H. Charnock and three United Mine Workers' officials left for Logan, where they will attempt to pacify the miners.

Armed men have captured three deputy sheriffs of Sheriff Chaffin's Logan county force, and are holding them at Shartles, the Governor said.

Feeling is so tense, that Chaffin is having trouble in holding back armed bands of citizens of Logan, the county seat, who are demanding they be allowed to attack the armed forces at once, the Governor said.

Report from Pittsburgh

Pittsburgh, Aug. 28.—Sheriff Hill of Boone county reported over the long distance telephone early tonight that he had reports to the effect that four or five men had been killed in an engagement near Shartles, close to the Boone-Logan county border in Logan county.

Sheriff Hill said his informant was a resident of Shartles, who had been within half a mile of the fight, when the shooting was going on. "Five or six men have been killed, he added, but he did not know what disposition had been made of the bodies."

"There is no doubt in my mind," said Charles Hill over the telephone, "that there was a fight and some men were killed."

Shartles is 15 miles from Madison, the county seat of Boone county, where Pres. C. F. Keeney of the United Mine Workers last Friday turned back the men who were marching from Marmet to Mingo county as a protest against martial law in the latter county.

It contains about 1,000 people and is only a short distance from Blair. The miners in this section are organized. Several weeks ago a detail of state police and deputy sheriffs were sent from Logan to establish a post of the police in that section. When they arrived Shartles they were met by a band of armed men, who surrounded and surprised them, and, according

HAS SAVED EUROPE FROM BOLSHEVISM

America's Generosity in Feeding the Needy Given as the Saving Force

New York, Aug. 28.—American feeding has saved Central and Eastern Europe from Bolshevism, according to J. H. Wallis of Dubuque, Ia., representative of the American Relief administration, who has just returned from a five months' survey of American relief work in Europe.

The Hoover organization, Mr. Wallis said, had been upholding democracy in Europe and through its relief operations had stabilized and strengthened the new democracies resulting from the war, when they were threatened with forces of disintegration, because of hunger.

"Chief officials in some countries told me with perfect frankness," he added, "that the American feeding had been their political salvation and in all countries even the most cautious and guarded officials admitted it was a very material aid. Private citizens were more downright and positive. 'American feeding saved us from Bolshevism,' was their general view."

Mr. Wallis expressed optimism concerning the economic and political future of the nations, declaring that it is "entirely a mistake to suppose that Europe is sinking." He said conditions were improving and order was being restored everywhere.

"In general, the aspect today of Central Europe and the Baltic is one of recovery," he added. "The recovery is, perhaps, not as rapid as it might have been if men and nations had been ideally wise, but it is substantial and promising. Although in some places there are distressing conditions, Europe is rising. There are still some international wrangles, such as Upper Silesia and the Polish-Lithuanian dispute about Vilna, Austria not yet adjusted to her new place in the world order, is still suffering business stagnation. But the economic barriers between states are being broken down by commercial treaties, the railway systems are getting back to normal."

"My investigation in Central Europe and the Baltic took me into Austria, Hungary, Czechoslovakia, Germany, Poland, Lithuania, Latvia and Estonia. In all of these countries I had the privilege of talking with the principal government officials, including Chancellor Wirth of Germany, Premier Pilsudski of Poland, President Masaryk of Czechoslovakia, President Hainisch of Austria, Finance Minister Heugens of Hungary and the leading men of the Baltic republics. I also made it a point to get the views of the most prominent bankers and business men of the various countries. Beyond that, I have seen labor leaders, presidents of universities, workmen, peasants and refugees."

CHICAGO THEATRES DAMAGED BY BOMBS

Attempt to Force Owners by Terrorizing to Abandon Open Shop Policy

Chicago, Aug. 28.—The explosion last night of time bombs at two Chicago burlesque theatres, the Columbia and the Star and Garter, was declared to be part of a conspiracy to terrorize the owners into the abandonment of their recently announced "open shop" policy, by the police tonight.

The explosions took place almost simultaneously and shook the entire business district shortly after midnight. Neither theatre had opened since the season and the damage to each was small. The force of the explosion shattered many windows and terrorized hundreds of persons in nearby hotels.

George F. Lawrence, manager of the Columbia theatre, said that plans to open the theatre next week have not been changed and that "open shop" policy will prevail. Both houses are members of the Columbia "Wheel," with headquarters in New York.

SYRACUSE STUDENT DROWNS

Syracuse, Aug. 28.—Carroll S. Adams, a student at Syracuse university, was drowned today at Crooked Lake, near here, when a sailboat in which he was riding capsized. Adams, who resided at Manlius, was a marine veteran of the Second division.

to reports sent out from Logan, they were disarmed and ordered out of the country. They arrived in Logan early the next morning and reported the incident to Sheriff Chaffin.

Late yesterday Capt. Brockus with a large detachment of state police, which had been on duty in the disturbed region of Mingo county, arrived in Logan from Williamson. They halted for a few minutes and then, in company with Logan county deputy sheriffs, set out for the Boone-Logan border, in the direction of Shartles.

Those who would discuss today's engagement said they regarded the fighting as "purely local." They added that they believed the march movement to Mingo county was a protest against martial law there had been successfully checked last week through the intervention of federal authorities and Mine Workers' officials.

Wire Communications Cut

Bull, Huntington, W. Va., Aug. 28.—Wire communications between Shartles and the outside world were cut off early tonight. The last message received at the Chesapeake and Ohio offices here was that telling of the arrival there of a special train having on board Adj. Gen. John H. Charnock and three United Mine Workers' officials.

First Aid for McAdoo

William Gibbs McAdoo sprained his wrist while playing ball with the Boy Scouts at their summer camp in Pilledale Interstate Park, New York. Anyhow, he said he did. And the boys rushed up to bandage his arm. He's honorary vice president of the Scouts. Mrs. McAdoo is holding an ivory-headed cane presented to McAdoo by the boys.

PRESIDENT HARDING CALLS CONFERENCE

To Meet in Washington Next Month to Consider Unemployment Problem

Washington, Aug. 28.—President Harding will call a national conference, representative of the whole country, to meet here next month to inquire into the unemployment problem.

Announcement of the President's intention was made tonight by Secretary Hoover, who was asked to formulate plans for the gathering. "The object of the conference," Mr. Hoover said, "will be to inquire into the volume of needed employment, the distribution of unemployment, to make recommendations as to measures that can be taken in co-ordinated speeding up of employment by industries and public bodies during the next winter, and in addition, a broad study of economic measures desirable to ameliorate the unemployment situation and give impulse to the recovery of business and commerce to normal."

It is intended to invite representatives of the greater groups of industries and thought, and the co-operation of national organizations will be sought in this connection. The personnel of the conference, Mr. Hoover added, will be made up so as to represent the country geographically. The commerce department is to co-operate with the labor department and representatives of labor.

"While the business situation is steadily improving," Mr. Hoover stated, "some sections of the workers may have exhausted their savings by the coming winter and they must be a matter of extreme solicitude. It is inconceivable that America, with its surpluses in food and clothing, with housing so crowded, and with an abundance of fuel, could allow any suffering amongst those of our own people who desire work."

AVIATOR SAVES THREE WOMEN FROM DROWNING

Hampton Beach, N. H., Aug. 28.—Inflated automobile inner tubes dropped from a low-flying airplane, saved the lives of three young women who were struggling in the heaviest summer surf on record here Saturday. Miss Marcella Moxley of North Andover, Mass., was drowned.

A number of bathers were caught well off shore and unable to swim back. Life guards were beaten back in their first efforts to rescue them and Miss Moxley sank.

Aviator J. P. Blake of Westley, Mass., who was making a flight near the beach, saw the predicament of the bathers, and bringing his plane down close to the water, he and his mechanic, Clifton Kemp of Concord, managed to drop the tubes close to the three girls.

They clung to the tubes until the life guards were able to reach them, but were unconscious when brought ashore. They were soon revived.

MOHAMMEDAN FANATICS CLASH WITH CHRISTIANS

Vienna, Aug. 28.—(Associated Press).—Sanguinary encounters between Christian peasants and Mohammedans are reported from the Sandjak and Novi-Bazar regions of Yugoslavia.

A detachment of gendarmes and peasants have been surrounded in the village of Komoran, thirty-five of them being killed. The government is rushing troops and mountain batteries to the scene.

ASK FOR RECEIVER FOR INTERBOROUGH

Creditors Say in Complaint that Floating Debt Amounts to $3,000,000

New York, Aug. 28.—A receiver was asked for the Interborough Rapid Transit Company in an equity suit filed against it yesterday with the clerk of the United States District Court. The complaint is by the American Brake Shoe and Foundry Company, a Delaware corporation. The foundry company claims $57,074.36 due it for brake shoes and castings furnished the Interborough company.

The floating indebtedness of the defendant for materials, equipment, taxes and supplies is upward of $3,000,000, according to the bill of complaint. "This amount," the complaint states, "is now overdue and the defendant unable to pay."

The complaint further states that certain creditors are pressing for payment, that suits are threatened, that executions may be levied on equipment and property of the defendant, and that there is grave danger the defendant may thereby be deprived of the use of its equipment and rolling stock. It is alleged also that, for the benefit of the public and for the creditors, it is desirable that the operation of the subway and elevated lines be kept intact.

A long history of the Interborough company from its organization in 1902 to the present time is given in the bill of complaint. The bill says a receiver is necessary to protect creditors. The suit was made on behalf of any other creditors who may care to join the action.

COURT RETURNS 9 SHIPS TO BOARD

Harriman, Roosevelt and the Moore & McCormack Lines to Operate Them Without Compensation

New York, Aug. 28.—Judge Martin T. Manton, of the federal district court, yesterday, on application of the receivers, turned over to the government the nine ships chartered to the United States Mail Steamship company, Inc.

Immediately after they again came into possession of the board, Mr. Lasker allocating them for joint operation to the United American lines, the Roosevelt line and Moore & McCormack, Inc. These companies will operate the ships for the government's account, without compensation and as a patriotic service, until the Shipping board otherwise disposes of them by sale or charter.

One of the most important revelations made public by the chairman was the allegation that the Mail line had collected $1,200,000 advance monies from immigrants and had disposed of the cash in such a manner that none of it was found upon a financial investigation of the concern. The government has agreed to honor these immigrants' tickets, make good the cash deposits and take an assignment from the immigrants of their claim against the Mail line.

Seldom has a more distinguished group of financiers in shipping circles occupied the legal department of the Shipping board than that which attended the meeting called by Mr. Lasker yesterday afternoon, upon his return from court.

WANT LABOR MEN ON DELEGATIONS

From All Countries at Forthcoming Conference at Washington on Disarmament

AN APPEAL ISSUED

Support of Federation of Labor Pledged to President Harding in the Movement

Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 28.—Samuel Gompers, President of American Federation of Labor, tonight made public his appeal to the labor movement of the nations that are to participate in the forthcoming disarmament conference in Washington upon their delegations.

"The proposal to discuss means of lightening this tremendous burden of armament," said President Gompers in a statement accompanying the correspondence, "is one which interests the working people above others. From them came the first protest against enormous armament."

"The labor movement in the United States will, in what is even more possible, make every endeavor to be helpful to the cause of disarmament, but only to the opportunity to exercise a voice within the conference itself and it make available its full volume of council and co-operation."

The labor chief also made public correspondence with the White House in which he urged President Harding to appoint one or more representatives of labor on the American commission. The support of the federation also was pledged to the president in his move to bring about disarmament.

President Harding in replying to Mr. Gompers, thanked him for the Federation's support and said he was giving consideration to the recommendation that a labor representative be appointed to the American delegation, which he characterized as a "very practical suggestion."

Mr. Gompers' statement said that President Harding at a conference with him had also "expressed himself as being favorably impressed with his suggestion."

Urged to Resist Reductions. "The spirit and organization of the American worker are unbroken by the present business depression and they will continue to push forward and onward," Samuel Gompers declared in an address today before a conference of labor leaders. This was the first of a series of similar conferences to be held through the United States to bring about "complete unity and solidarity among the wage earners."

Mrs. Gompers, describing the effect of the period of depression on labor, said the while the organized labor movement was partially checked, it never was driven back to the condition existing before the depression.

"This is the first time in the history of the labor movement," he said, "where the men of labor have been able, to a tremendous degree, to maintain the integrity and membership of the labor movement, and yet, never in the history of labor has there been such a concentrated drive on the part of employers, business and finance against the men and women of labor as has been conducted within the past year."

Calling upon the worker to resist wage reductions, Mr. Gompers said: "Whenever a reduction in wages has been accepted by employees, it has been followed by another and then another. We have called upon the men of labor to America to resist wage reductions."

"Let me say in all candor to you that we cannot in the present state of organization, or even at the high peak of organization, successfully resist every offer of reduction of wages, but it is better to resist and lose or compromise than not to resist at all, because if you don't resist you encourage the employer to the idea that you can't and won't resist."

AMERICAN AND WIFE SLAIN BY SEVEN BORDER BANDITS

Nogales, Ariz., Aug. 28.—Seven bandits, believed to be Mexicans, who shot and killed Postmaster Frank J. Pearson and his wife at Ruby, thirty-five miles west of Nogales, late yesterday, escaped across the international border line into Mexico, according to Sheriff George White of Santa Cruz county, who returned here today, after making a personal investigation.

The sheriff said the victims were well armed and put up a brave fight against their attackers. Pearson was shot twice in the head and fell, taking two shots at the bandits before he died. Mrs. Pearson also was shot in the head. Mrs. Pearson's sister, Miss Elizabeth Purcell, was shot through the left hand and was wounded. The bandits then looted the safe and robbed the store which the Pearsons operated in connection with the post office.

The Pearson 30-year-old daughter, Marjorie, and a sister of the murdered man, Miss Irene Pearson, of Liberty Hill, Tex., were present at the time of the tragedy, but were unharmed.

SALEM MAN SUICIDES

Salem, Mass., Aug. 28.—While a group of men stood conversing on a street corner tonight, one of their number, John L. Whelan, casually asked his companions whether they considered a man who committed suicide a coward. Without waiting for a reply, he strode down the street, placed a dynamite cap in his mouth and lit it. He died at a hospital ten minutes later.

JAPAN IN FERMENT OVER CONFERENCE

Discussion of Far Eastern Policies by All the Powers Causes Consternation

Tokio, Aug. 28.—(The Associated Press).—Not since the Russo-Japanese war has any thing created such a ferment in Japan as President Harding's proposal to call a conference of the interested powers to discuss Far Eastern problems in connection with the general question of armament limitation.

Japan had been looking forward to a general discussion of political problems with the United States and possibly, also, with Great Britain but, coming immediately after the failure of British statesmen to agree on the renewal of the Anglo-Japanese alliance, the proposal to deliberate on Far Eastern policies and problems by all powers having interest in the Far East caused consternation.

The prevailing opinion was plainly that of such a world congress. It was, according to the general view, calculated to decide great issues vitally concerning the future of Japan and these issues dealt with Asia, which Japan tends to regard as being "her own province." There was apprehension in some quarters of resulting isolation.

There was dismay at the apparent difficulties found in extending the military pact with England which has even been considered the pivot of Japan's foreign diplomacy and which gave to Japan international weight because it meant a working alliance with a great Western empire. It was, in the prevailing view, the ever present danger that Japan was now of the great powers of the world and the effective bridge between the leading power of the Orient and a mighty white power of Europe.

Many men of Nippon therefore foresaw a danger of an Anglo-Saxon combination acting to strangle Japan's political development in Asia—a fettering of future Japanese activity on the oriental side of the Pacific ocean. Japan therefore accepted gladly the armament discussion because it meant maintenance and increase of her navy and army as a heavy burden which she cannot stand. But she asked the United States to define what political questions were to be submitted to the Far Eastern conference. Meantime, she made tentative plans to draw up a list of matters she deemed vital for deliberation in connection with her own interests and in connection with the general aim of the conference.

Japanese of prominence, however, rejecting the fears of many bureaucrats, foresaw in the political conference a not-to-be-lost opportunity of pushing forward the cause of Japan as a world power—of demanding assured sources for food and raw material so vital for their country, of finding an outlet for their increasing population and markets for their manufactured articles on a basis of the most-favored nation treatment and, in a general way, of obtaining recognition of the principle of equal treatment and equal opportunity for the yellow race.

These men welcomed the conference as Japan's golden moment. They were convinced that neither the United States nor Great Britain would fail to give due consideration to Japan's position and world wants, that they would recognize Japan's place as the leading oriental power and not forget that Japan's very presence in the Far East entitled her to certain rights, as she already possesses advantages on account of nearness and her close historical and racial contacts with the rest of Asia. They believed that Japan would better her lot, not make it worse.

Many newspapers draw attention to the quick calling of the Far Eastern conference after the deliberations of the British Imperial council, and were inclined to deduce that American opposition was the cause of the failure to reach a definite decision on the renewal of the Russian alliance. They rejoiced at the calling of the armament conference, but they were plainly disturbed about the general political congress.

Marquis Okuma, Japan's "grand old man," who expects to live until the age of 125, who has always claimed to be a liberal and who was prime minister when Japan presented the famous 21 demands on China in 1915, was not optimistic in his remarks. He predicted danger for Japan and maintained that if Japan's acquired rights and interests in Asia were not respected and assured, then Japan should secede from the conference.

The great internal strength of Japan is its patriotic unanimity in the time of crisis, coupled with a tenacity and a national pride, that the famous 21 demands on China in 1915, was not optimistic in his remarks. STRIKE BALLOTS MAILED R. R. MEN

On Acceptance of Wage Reduction Recently Ordered by Labor Board

WILL BE SANCTIONED

On All Roads Where Necessary Majority Vote Favors Leaving the Service

Cleveland, Aug. 28.—Strike ballots on acceptance or rejection of the recent $400,000 wage reduction recently ordered by the railroad labor board were mailed tonight to the 409,000 members of the "big four" brotherhoods and the Switchmen's Union of North America.

The ballots revealed a difference of opinions among chief executives of the five organizations, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, the Brotherhood of Railroad Conductors and the Switchmen, using a joint ballot, while the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen sent out a separate ballot.

The trainmen's ballot stated that it had been the intention of all the organizations to use a joint ballot, but that this was impossible because the ballot adopted by the other organizations "did not, in its content, contain an impartial and unbiased recital of all that is involved, nor did it convey the assurance that the wishes of the men, if against working for reduced wages, would determine the question, and that they would be permitted to leave the service."

A joint ballot declared that if the membership were to reject the wage reduction which became effective on July 1, 1921, "it is to be understood that the men will be permitted to withdraw from the service of their respective companies unless satisfactory settlements can be reached under the laws of the organizations."

"The proposition which confronts our members and others," said the Trainmen's ballot, "carries with it an attempt to reverse the decision of the United States Railroad Labor board on the wage reduction now in effect since July 1, or else persuade or compel the railroad companies to re-institute wage rates that the labor board decided should be reduced."

Many general chairmen at the Chicago meeting (On July 5.) favored an immediate vote of the members on the wage cut, and held that if the necessary majority of the membership voted to leave the service, that a strike should be called forthwith, in an effort to force a restoration of the rates that were in effect on June 30, 1921.

All members and others are hereby notified that if the membership vote is a majority, necessary majority to leave the service, rather than continue service under the reduced wages now in effect, they will on any or all lines where such vote is secured (with the sanction of the general grievance committee) be given necessary authority by the president of the grand lodge. The president of the grand lodge will not (with the information given to the members to prevent the wishes of the men expressed in their ballots from being adhered to.)

The number of active members of the five organizations to whom ballots were mailed was estimated at 150,000 trainmen, 115,000 firemen, 80,000 conductors, 60,000 switchmen, and 11,000 switchmen.

STRIKE SURE TO COME

Saratoga, Pa., Aug. 28.—Roundhouse and shop employees of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad were advised to save their money and lay in stores of food by J. J. Maloney, general chairman of the Lackawanna system federation, at a mass meeting here today. Mr. Maloney declared that a strike was sure to come on the railroads and he wants the men prepared.

"The time is not ripe for a strike at present," said Mr. Maloney. "Would it be right for the roundhouse men to ask the men to join them in a strike when the recent decision is in a way favorable to the latter save your money; put in a supply of food and other food stuffs. Fill your coal bins. When the time is ripe, we will be ready. It will come suddenly. The strike will be authorized by our international organization, and it will be general unless the companies will back up and I don't believe they will."

INTERNAL REVENUE RECEIPTS FALL OFF $812,000,000

Washington, Aug. 28.—Internal revenue collections from all sources during the fiscal year 1921 compared with $812,000,000 as compared with the previous year while the cost of collection advanced from 55 cents to 65 cents for each $100 collected, according to a preliminary statement issued tonight by Commissioner Blair.

The increased cost of operation of the internal revenue service during 1921, which amounted to about $1,000,000, he explained, was mainly due to the reduced collections and increased expense in supervising regulatory laws.

DARING HOLD UP

Stamford, Conn., Aug. 28.—One man was killed early today when nine men held up the "Dowry club" in State street and obtained $2,000 in cash and some jewelry from a score of men who were in the club. The man killed was Bernard Smith, 20, a trolley conductor of this city. Up to tonight the police force had made no arrests in connection with the case.

WIN FROM HUDSON FALLS

Oneonta Giants Beat "Lefty" Stone, Scanton's Work Surpassing That of Stone—McGrath's Homer, Harlow's Triple and Baird's Catch Other Features.

Oneonta's Giants defeated the strong Hudson Falls team on the latter's diamond Sunday afternoon by the score of 4-3. The far-famed "Lefty" Stone was in the box for the home team and though effective save in one inning was outclassed by Scanton, who had all kinds of stuff and was ably supported by McGrath and the entire Oneonta team. Scanton struck out 12, two in the last inning.

In the seventh inning, first up, hit a hot grounder to Monahan at third, which broke a finger for the third sacker. He feigned the ball poorly and when the first baseman let it get by him, Hatch took second. Harlow and Byrnes were retired on grounders, Hatch getting third on the latter's out. Farrell hit to third, which was being covered by the second baseman, an outfielder being called in to second when the regular third sacker was injured. Farrell's drive was handled poorly and Hatch scored. Harlow followed with a triple, scoring Farrell, and McGrath rapped out a long drive beyond the mowed cars in right and the ball rolled outside the field, McGrath getting a nover and scoring. Harlow across the plate ahead of him. The fielding feature of the game was a bare-handed catch by Baird, who also made two singles. No tabulated score of the encounter was kept. The score by innings follows:

Hudson . . . 01200000—3 8 3
Batteries — Scanton and McGrath, Stone and Conroy.

D & H DEFEATED.

Loose Playing on Everyone's Part Was the Cause.

The Susquehanna Division team received a hard trimming at the hands of Bainbridge Saturday afternoon, when the latter team crossed the plate 13 times and the railroad men were allowed to score only once.

The defeat was due to loose playing on the part of all the players of the Delaware and Hudson team, as they had not played together since the team was organized. Then Coach Brodie was trying out everything that was in sight to get a line on what he had.

Most of the men that have been playing ball this season seemed to have an off day and there was no time after the third inning that the Bainbridge team was pressed by the visitors.

Brodie used Dibble in the first three innings and he held them to only two runs and at the close of the third inning the D & H team had one out, but he, too, was left high and dry. Just three men faced Zwick in the third.

But in the fourth things began to happen. Murphy drew a pass and stole second. Fisher struck out, yes, that's right. He tried to convince Umpire Beane that he ought to have called out but the ump couldn't see it that way and the former major leaguer went growling to his cage, much the envyment of the crowd.

His feelings must have been anything but pleasant a moment later when Haines cracked into one of Zwick's intended deceivers for a homer over the fence bringing in Murphy ahead of him. How Fisher must have hoped that he too had found the ball for a safety, for then the score would have been tied, and Oneonta, at that time, looked as if they might get some more. Leo and Loftus Hanley were out on fly.

The sixth was the next productive inning for the E-J's. Murphy started things off with a homer. Fisher was then the center of all eyes and the crowd was in high hopes that Zwick would slip over three which he could not hit. Whatever he slipped over the shoemaker crashed into it, it going over Harlow's head for three bases. Haines then came to bat and he singled across the box for a center, scoring Fisher. Haines was out on fly.

Leo Hanley tried the game stunt as his brother, but Hermann elected to try for Haines, getting him in the run up with the result as stated above. Hanley was on second when the out was made. Walters grounded, Hermann to Byrnes, ending the inning.

The Brooklyn Royal Giants will make a return visit to the city today, game called at 4:15.

FISHERMEN EVEN SERIES

Take Tying Game from Oneonta, 4 to 2, by Liscaver Hitting—Game Fine One to Watch—Brooklyn Royal Giants Here Today.

With the series with Fisher's shoemakers and the Oneonta Giants standing at 3 to 2, the former came into the city Saturday with the evident desire of evening things, which they succeeded in doing by means of heavier hitting, although the two teams were each credited with the same number of safe drives, the visitors had a couple of homers, a triple and a double chalked up on their side of the ledger, while all of the home cohorts were singles with a doubtful exception of a drive by McGrath which proper base ball would have held to a one sack clout.

The one thing which spoiled the game from the spectators, was the display of wrath and pugilism by Haines when he was caught out in a run-up by Hermann. It looked to the writer that the runner was off his balance when the ball was put on him and he fell mostly on his own feet, but he evidently was so scared because he was out and he started after Hermann. After a few minutes squabbling on the part of the people who joined in the fray, things were quieted and the game progressed, with Haines getting anything but applause from the crowd as he came to the dugout. However, his wrath cooled off and his common sense came to the fore and it was time for him and his teammates to take the field again, for he went to Hermann and shook hands with him, thus ending a bad situation.

One especially good play was the catch, in the sixth, of Farrell's fly by John Hanley in center; another was the assist by Leo Hanley on the last play of the game. Walsh an emergency hitter for Zwick, hit the ball hard just to the left of Russell and apparently out of reach of Hanley, but the recent Brooklyn tryout used a little extra gas and got over to the ball and ended the fine act by an equally fine peg to first.

Russell went to the mound for the visiting aggregation and in the first three rounds seemed easy for the Giants, but after that he permitted just two of Oneonta men to hit safely, the final three innings being finished in 1-3-3 order.

Zwick did the heaving for the home crowd and while he allowed just as many hits as his opponent, and in reality kept them better scattered, they were longer drives and counted for more bases.

It looked as if the locals would score in the very first. Baird endeavored to beat out a bunt, but failed, going single to left and Hatch put a fly into Sullivan's hands and the sacker dropped. Hermann's out put men on third and second, but Byrnes did as had Hermann grounded Ruffis to Murphy, and hope for the time being was gone.

Farrell, in the second was passed, was sacrificed to second by Harlow, went to third on McGrath's ground out and scored on Zwick's single to left, the latter making second on Haines' error in permitting the ball to get by him.

With one down in the third, Hatch singled to right and swiped second, scoring on Hermann's single across the box into center, the latter taking the mjayaw on the peg to the plate. Byrnes fled to left, but Farrell singled past Murphy to right, taking second on the heave to the plate and continuing to third when Fisher sent the ball flying to the outfield trying to catch the Johnson City kid at second. Harlow got the bat too much under the ball, resulting in a fly which Fisher took care of.

With the third inning ceased the chances of the locals to get any more runs, for Russell tightened up to perfection and the two hits he did permit came after two were down.

The visiting gang got Murphy on second in the first by means of a double, but he died there. Leo Hanley, in the second got as far as third, but he, too, was left high and dry. Just three men faced Zwick in the third.

But in the fourth things began to happen. Murphy drew a pass and stole second. Fisher struck out, yes, that's right. He tried to convince Umpire Beane that he ought to have called out but the ump couldn't see it that way and the former major leaguer went growling to his cage, much the envyment of the crowd.

His feelings must have been anything but pleasant a moment later when Haines cracked into one of Zwick's intended deceivers for a homer over the fence bringing in Murphy ahead of him. How Fisher must have hoped that he too had found the ball for a safety, for then the score would have been tied, and Oneonta, at that time, looked as if they might get some more. PITTSBURGH WAVERS GIANTS GOING FAST

Cleveland and New York in Close Battle Also in American League

League

New York, Aug. 28 — The major league pennant races approached the September stretch with the Pittsburgh National league leaders waverling badly as New York increases its lead, with the Cleveland and New York Americans continuing neck and neck pace. The Pirates are two and one-half games ahead of the Giants and the Indians increased their lead to one and one-half games today by winning while the Yankees lost. The two St. Louis teams are playing splendid ball, but have only a mathematical chance of reaching the top.

The apical feat of the New York Nationals in cutting down Pittsburgh's lead by winning five straight contests from the Pirates, was surpassed by St. Louis in taking six straight games from Boston and decreasing the Braves' advantage over them for third place to almost one game. With his pitching staff rounding into good form, Manager McGraw of New York is confident of overcoming Pittsburgh's lead, although the Pirates will play almost all of their remaining games at home. In the five game series, the Giants outscored the league leaders 27 runs to 5, and outbatted them 46 hits to 22. Each team made two errors.

Boston battled well in its series with St. Louis, and the fight for third place with consequent share in the World Series prize money should be an interesting one. The Braves have let up in their battling, but the pitchers are showing improvement. The Cardinals have won eight consecutive games and play Philadelphia and Pittsburgh this week. The Quakers had their first winning streak since May, Brooklyn will find it difficult to get back into the first division, as the "Sunshiners" pitchers are being his hard. Chicago and Cincinnati are battling well, but lack consistent pitching.

In the American league, Manager Speaker of Cleveland is jockeying with his pitchers to good effect. Only three runs a game were averaged off Indian pitchers last week. Bagby was called upon for relief duty three times. Cochrane was the only Indian pitcher to go the full distance last week. New York seems to have uncovered a stride and promises to keep close to the champions.

The Washington moundsmen are ineffective and the heavy batting of the St. Louis Browns ought to carry them into third place. The Boston and Detroit pitchers are not doing very well, although both clubs had a winning balance last week. Chicago and Philadelphia also lacked pitching.

UNADILLA DEFEATS SIDNEY

Bunched Hits in Seventh—Two Double Plays.

In a game at Unadilla Saturday, the home towners defeated the Sidney aggregation, 7 to 3. The game had a couple of fast double plays to witness it and hitting enough to suit most any one. The feature plays were Sweetman's catch in deep center and Eckstein's catch in the same location and following peg to Gardner at third, catching a runner trying to make that station, for the out.

Unadilla really won the game in the seventh, at which time they got in a quintette of tallies, thus putting Unadilla in the lead from the rear. AB R H PO A E

EVENTS IN DAVENPORT.

Miss Sara Graig and Derwood McCracken Married Saturday Evening. Davenport, Aug. 28. — Sara, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Graig, and Derwood McCracken, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. E. McCracken, both of Davenport, were married Saturday evening at the United Presbyterian manse in North Kortright by Rev. R. R. Irwin. The bride, was attired in a beaver brown tailored suit with hat to match, and the couple was attended by the Misses Josephine Graig and Velma McCracken, sisters respectively of bride and groom. Both are respected young people of this village, and the bride is organist in the United Presbyterian church, of which both are members. Mr. and Mrs. McCracken are spending their honeymoon at a cottage on Canadago lake with Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Graig and Mr. and

Mrs. W. J. Graig, brothers and sisters-in-law of the bride. On their return they will reside on the McCracken farm below the village, where the groom is associated with his father in the management of the property.

Prof. White Preaches at Davenport. Prof. William J. White, whose summer home is at Davenport, spoke Sunday morning to a large and appreciative audience at the Methodist Episcopal church. Though a teacher and not a preacher, Mr. White gave an excellent discourse from the word found in Matthew, "Be ye perfect." Singing was by Prof. VonNeer and his choir, who rendered an anthem with Miss Ethel Ripple, soprano, and Miss Constantine Reeves, contralto, in the solo parts. Prof. VonNeer also rendered "Rock of Ages" as a solo. Residents of Davenport are glad to know that Prof. VonNeer has kindly offered his choir for one more Sunday.

At the State Fair. Cleo Rice, Mildred Sperry and Ruth Frisbee will represent the Junior Project work of the Davenport High school at the state fair in Syracuse, which begins on Monday, September 12.

Brevities. Mr. and Mrs. B. G. Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Page of Franklin were Sabbath guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Wickham. — Over $18 was realized at the Methodist bake sale held with Mrs. H. F. Wickham on Saturday.

DRAWING FOR POSITIONS. James E. Loveland Has First Place for Sheriff in Republican Ballot.

Delhi, Aug. 28. — In drawing on the Republican primary ticket for positions on the Delaware County ballot for the office of Sheriff, James E. Loveland of Franklin drew first, Marshall E. Arbuckle of Delhi, second and Fred J. Stevens of Delhi, third.

Mrs. Wheeler Declines. The declination of Mrs. Margaret K. Wheeler, who was designated by the Democratic party for Member of Assembly has been filed in the office of Election commissioners at Delhi.

Coming Delhi Events. The annual Fireman's ball will be held on the evening of September 1st, in the opera house. The music will be furnished by Pease Bros. orchestra. This event is looked forward to by a great many as a good time is certain.

The Delaware County fair at Delhi during the week of September 12th is another event much to be anticipated. This year the committees are sparing no time or means to make it a grand success. Senator Calder will speak on one of the days and the races for which nearly $3,000 will be given in purses are two of the attractions.

On Wednesday evening, August 31, at the opera house, a benefit for the Catholic church will be given under the personal direction of Al MacKay. Two farce comedies played by carefully chosen casts of best home talent will help make up the program.

Personal Mention. The directors of the Delaware County Breeders' association, who were elected last May, met in Delhi on Friday for the purpose of organization. — Seymour Lathan of New York accompanied by his nephew, Harry Lathan, of Oneonta, was a Delhi caller Wednesday. Mr. Lathan was formerly from the town of Meredith and has not been in this section for over 30 years. — Miss Helen Page of New York has arrived in town for her vacation, stopping at the home of Mrs. J. O. Gladstone.

MARRIAGE IN GRAND GORGE.

Harold Edwin Odell and Naomi Idella Cole Wed on Saturday.

Hobart, Aug. 28. — At 12 o'clock Saturday, August 27, occurred the marriage of Harold Edwin Odell and Naomi Idella Cole. The ceremony was performed by the bride's pastor, Rev. L. E. Travis, at the Methodist church in Grand Gorge, only the immediate families and pastors of the bridal party being present.

The bride's gown was georgette with satin trimmings and she carried a shower bouquet of white roses and wore the wedding veil. The youngest sister of the bride, Miss Cora, as bridesmaid, wore pink crepe de chine and carried pink roses. The groom was attended by his brother, Everett, as best man. After a social time, the guests enjoyed a 1 o'clock dinner, served at S. Murphy's hotel, Grand Gorge. Amid a shower of rice and confetti, the happy couple left for an auto trip to Lake George and Thousand Islands. On their return they will reside in Hobart, where Mrs. Odell will teach the coming year. Mr. Odell is the senior member of the Odell Brothers' garage business.

France Using Ancient Plan of Marrying Off Surplus of Women.

The ancient marriage market idea is being revived in some parts of France because of the superabundance of comely marriageable women unable to find husbands. There scores of would-be-wives line up in the central market place, each armed with a huge colored parasol, and kissing is as common as smiles.

Frequently during the market a willing swain is accepted, the usual sign being that the couple turn their backs on the rest of the crowd and continue their kissing behind a sheltering parasol. But often the market fails to bring immediate results and the applicant is rejected by receiving a hearty blow on the shoulders with the parasol.

Officials insist that the practice should be extended to all parts of France, pointing out that in districts where wives are chosen like vegetables there are more happy marriages, fewer divorces and fewer illegitimate children than in any other departments.

Divide Ownership of Great Lakes. The largest of the Great Lakes is Lake Superior, area 31,800 square miles. The smallest is Lake St. Clair, area 445 square miles. The second largest is Lake Huron, area 22,200 square miles. Lake Michigan is third, 22,400 square miles; Erie fourth, 19,000 square miles; and Ontario, fifth, 7,260 square miles. Lake Michigan is wholly within the United States. Half of the area of the other Great Lakes is within Canada.

The Paramount Five. I presume the five most important topics of everyday conversation in this country are (1) politics, (2) religion, (3) sports, (4) the movies and (5) money, but I should say that the five things that a man most frequently thinks about are (1) his family, (2) his business or his job, (3) his health, (4) his recreation and (5) his investments. — "A Business Man" in Collier's.

Monks Used Charcoal.

Use of charcoal in Italy has always been very heavy because of its almost universal use for cooking and heating. At Vallombrosa a large quantity had always been made, even in the time of the monks during the Middle Ages. Prior to the war this forest alone produced annually about 220,000 pounds of charcoal. — American Forestry Magazine.

To Save Steps.

A basket or tray is a splendid thing to keep at the bottom of the stairs. Into it can be thrown things to be carried upstairs, and after that things to be brought down. Thus one trip upstairs or down during the morning when the house is being put into order, or on cleaning day, will do the work of seven.

FRENCH GET PRIZES

Rewarded for Efforts to Restore Farms to Prewar State.

Fifty Farmers Are Now Owners of Agricultural Implements Donated by Two American Women.

Paris.—Fifty farmers from the cantons of Anizy and Coucy in the devastated area of the Aisne (northern France) are today the owners of agricultural implements given them as prizes by Miss Anne Morgan and Mrs. A. Murray Dike of the American committee for devastated France in recognition of efforts they have made to restore their farms to their prewar state.

The prize winners were selected by a jury of French agriculturists from 110 entries in two agricultural competitions. The first prize, a seed planter from Louisville, Ky., was won by Albert Delan and his wife, sixty-eight and fifty-eight years old, respectively, peasants from Alenmont (Aisne) who, although their fields were classed as "irredeemable" by the government, returned to their farm, lived in a dug-out and after two years of hard labor succeeded in putting their entire farm under cultivation.

Cash prizes totaling 4,000 francs were also given by Miss Morgan and Mrs. Dike to the 30 farm hands in the cantons of Anizy and Coucy, who were most meritorious. The first prize of 300 francs was won by an aged couple named Thuillot, who served for 40 years on the same farm and who after the war, worked a year without wages because their mistress could not afford to pay them.

Through the co-operation of the American committee with the farmers of the Aisne, 25,000 acres of land ravaged by the war have been reclaimed and are at present under cultivation.

The committee has organized 32 agricultural syndicates among the farmers and has placed 40 tractors at their disposal. The two agricultural contests with prizes worth more than 20,000 francs is one of the ways in which the American committee is stimulating the farmers to do their utmost.

SAVE ROBINS' NEST

Board Yielded to Pleas of Teachers and Pupils.

Teachers and pupils in the Garfield school at Columbus, Ind., protested recently to the school board when a man employed by the board to trim the trees in all school yards of the city threatened to destroy a nest on which a robin was sitting. The school board ordered the trimmer to spare the tree.

Twenty years ago a pair of robins built a nest in this tree, hatched and raised the young. Every spring since robins have come to the same tree. The nest is placed so that pupils, by looking from the windows of an upper room, can watch the robins feed the young.

Borrowed Dime From Rescuer.

Isaac Jacobson, a Lynn (Mass.) leather dealer, jumped into Flax pond and pulled out Eva Lee, twenty-four years old, of West Lynn, after she had attempted to end her life. The rescue completed, the girl, having changed her mind about calling off the struggle, asked her rescuer for a "dime" with which to purchase a sandwich, she said. Jacobson fished into his pocket and discovered half a dollar, which he gave the young woman.

Defining Canada's Water Area.

This water area of Canada is exclusive of Hudson bay, Ungava bay, the Bay of Fundy, the Gulf of St. Lawrence and all other tidal waters except that portion of the St. Lawrence river, in which there is a tide, which is up as far as Lake St. Peter.

Meaning of Dream of King.

To see a king upon a throne denotes vanity and deception. To see a king alone and unaccompanied by attendants, charity and clemency from superiors. To a prisoner it signifies a speedy pardon. To speak to a king, honor and wealth.

Evil of Discontent.

Discontent is like ink poured into water, which fills the whole fountain full of blackness. It casts a cloud over the mind, and renders it more occupied about the evil which disquiet than about the means of removing it. — Feltham

FOREST AND HOME FIRES.

This is the season for forest fires. "Fire is the greatest menace to the forest," says a bulletin issued by the New York State College of Forestry. Fires destroy the reservoir formed by the trees and the spongy forest floor that regulates the water supply of creeks and rivers. Forest fires make dry river beds in summer and ruinous floods in winter. A regular stream flow causes loss of water power to the manufacturing world and means higher prices for many manufactured products. Forest fires despoil the beauty of the landscape and rob man of one of life's most ennobling influences. Every forest fire increases the cost of shelter, clothing, food and fuel. They lay waste the recreation places of the people making for weakened man-energy. No one cares to take an outing in a blackened and burned-over country where only bugs and insects thrive and disease reigns.

A fire in the forest not only kills flowers and trees but fish and game animals which furnish food and sport to thousands of people and birds which make agriculture possible. A fire in the forest often costs human life. When you are in or near the forest think what it means to you and your family's families for all time. You are careful in your own home with fire. Why not in the forest where you live part of the time where the health and recreation you cannot get in city domicile is to be found? Homes, churches and schoolhouses are built from timber that grows in the forest. Remember forests are not insured. Remember, every burned acre costs the cost of building of every description, increases rent and the cost of furniture, paper and all wood products. Remember, burned timberland pays no wages.

Build your campfire near water, sheltered from wind, free from contact with underbrush, living or dead. Build your campfire on ground cleared of moss, rotten wood and leaf mold. The lake shore or pebbly bank of a stream is a good place. Build a small fire. Guides and real woodsmen always build a very small fire for cooking and camping purposes. A big fire is unnecessary, dangerous and of no use to you. Be absolutely sure your campfire is out and thoroughly soaked with water before leaving it. Use care not only while camping but while riding automobile, railway train or walking—be sure matches, cigars and cigarettes are out before you throw them away. You wouldn't throw lighted matches into gasoline; why throw them into the forest which is a much more serious matter—you can get more burned up and man never can find pleasure there again nor the stinky health.

It is stupid kind of arson to throw fire into the forest. Every forest fire is money taken out of your own pocket. A fire in the woods is a greater disaster than a fire in your neighbor's dwelling or your own home—that is only a private inconvenience. A building can be replaced. A badly burned forest is a public disaster. On such devastated land the forest can never be replenished because the productivity has been burned up and man never can find pleasure there again nor the stinky health. There is a stronger moral obligation not to set a forest fire than there is not to set a fire under a person's home. Do the same in the forest as you would in the city. Don't set fires. In the woods you are honor bound not to destroy life or any of its essentials but to preserve it. If you see a fire, put it out. If you can't put it out notify the nearest fire warden immediately. The telephone operator will place you in communication with him.

J. D. Gardner Accepts Utica Position.

The Pottsville, Pa., Journal of recent date has the following concerning a former well-known Oneonta man, who has many friends in this city:

"J. D. Gardner of the coat and suit department of the Dives, Pomroy and Stewart company has tendered his resignation to take effect September 1. On that date he leaves to take a similar position with the John B. Roberts company of Utica. This is one of the largest business houses in that city. Mr. Gardner's new position being in the form of a distinct advancement. The D. P. & S. firm is sorry to lose Mr. Gardner, who is a man of great efficiency and clever buying abilities. The many friends he has made during his stay here wish him all success in his new position."

Mr. Gardner is a son of J. B. Gardner of this city and for twelve years was a valued employee in the Sison store, going several years ago with the Pottsville company. He has numerous friends in Oneonta who will congratulate him on his advancement and on the fact that the change brings him nearer to his old home.

POTTER'S CROSSING BLOCKED.

Car Leaves Track When King Bolt Breaks—Traffic Tied 1 1/2 Hours.

Potter's crossing on the state road between Wells Bridge and Unadilla was blocked last night for more than an hour and a half by the Delaware and Hudson railroad company when one of the cars of a southbound freight left the track at the crossing.

The king bolt that holds the car to the truck broke and the wheels and the truck left the track. The wrecking crew and cars were forced to work on the crossing in order to get the cars back on the tracks, which necessitated the blocking of traffic. Long lines of automobiles were standing on both sides of the track waiting for the crew to get the crippled car on the track. The company's men did fast work to get the blockade removed from the side of the track and the main line cleared as quickly as they did.

PRESS AND PUBLIC OPINION

The Tragedy of the ZR-2

It is not necessary to say that the intrinsic loss in the destruction of the dirigible ZR-2 is negligible in the hour of regret that so many good men, Americans and British, perished with the wreck.

As the great dirigible had not been delivered to this government but was only attempting the final tests when the tragedy occurred in the Humber it will not be for the United States to make an official investigation of the cause of the disaster. That will be the task for the Air Ministry of Great Britain.

But there is an inquiry which the United States can make for itself and without crossing the ocean. It can discover why it ever was pledged to the purchase abroad, at a cost of $2,000,000, of an instrument of war of a type which, if it be a useful instrument, we must eventually make for ourselves. It is well worth finding out why a nation excelled by none in mechanical skill—and which has already contributed to the development of aerostats such important improvements as cheap helium gas, lighter trusses and better fabrics and valves—should feel compelled to shop abroad for an airship. — [New York Herald.]

A "Henry" Railroad.

Henry Ford's success in running a short railroad at a profit in these perilous times for railroading and everything else, does not necessarily signify that all railroads should be run at a profit under present conditions. Henry Ford turned out more cars last month than in any month in the most prosperous year in history and made more money on the cars sold; yet in the same month one of the big motor car factories closed down, and others lost money. The fact that Henry Ford makes money "hand over fist" making motor cars does not signify necessarily that conditions are such that other people can make money making other motor cars.

If Henry Ford were making the Rolle-Royce, which closed down temporarily last month, he would not be making the money that he is making in producing the Ford. If he were running the Erie railroad he would not be making the money that he is making running the Detroit, Toledo & I. R. The Henry Ford railroad is making money, but so are a few other railroads. The Lackawanna railroad declared a 100 per cent dividend the other day and paid it last month. It is in railroads what the Henry is in cars.

In short, the success of Henry Ford in running a little railroad is not a large enough yardstick to take any measurements with whatever. — [Tapeka Capital.]

A Menace of Experts.

The fact that the delegations to the disarmament conference will include "scores of experts and clerical assistants" does not promise well. If the whole business must be worked down to a fine point, the chances for a decision to begin disarming will not be so good. The way to disarm is to disarm. "Experts and clerical assistants" may succeed only in multiplying the waters. — [Raleigh (N. C.) News and Observer.]

Root-Strap Optimism.

Optimism is a most desirable quality, just now. But those who claim that it is all that is necessary in order to put the industrial affairs into apple pie order are exaggerating. Any optimism that disregards hard reality cannot be of permanent advantage.

When things went wrong there was a cause, or rather, a number of causes. Before sound conditions can be assumed and perpetuated, these causes must be recognized and dealt with or the same effects will return. One who looks over the financial history of the United States, with its alternate periods of exhilaration and depression, must be puzzled over whether the normal condition is one of prosperity or the opposite.

Surely mankind has grown intelligent enough to be able to introduce

KAMP KIYUGAN SEASON ENDS

House Warming at Titus Lake Saturday Evening to be Followed by Water Carnival on Monday Afternoon.

On Saturday evening the people about South Worcester and neighboring villages attended a dance in the newly constructed bungalow at Kiyugan, located at Titus lake, on what was formerly the Charles Houck farm. Many of the visitors, about 150 in number, had their first glimpse of the camp which is now closing its second season.

The bungalow, which was tastefully decorated with American flags and autumn leaves, provided ample dancing space as the partitions have not yet been placed. Dancing continued until midnight, after which refreshments were served in the mess hall which was decorated with hemlock boughs that presented a pleasing contrast to the red background. The lake was dotted with floating lanterns and a huge bonfire greeted the guests as they arrived.

After inspecting the tents and buildings the guests listened to some unique songs by the boys of the camp, some of whom sing in the boys' choir of Grace Church, New York. The Lane brothers furnished music and Mr. Banks made an able floor manager. The camp boys, who were witnessing their first country dance, enjoyed the square sets immensely and connoisseurs of the Lancers, etc., had an equally enjoyable time watching the city people in their first attempt to master the difficult figures. Expressions of pleasure were heard on all sides and several on leaving made the request that another dance might follow.

The second part of the program will take place this afternoon when the camp boys will compete in swimming, diving, rowing and canoe races. Medals will be awarded the successful contestants.

Kamp Kiyugan is one of the many private camps where boys in the city have an opportunity to live in the open during the vacation months, and learn to care for themselves on both land and water. It is conducted by Miss Celestine E. Francis assisted by James E. Allen in the capacity of swimming master. Both Miss Francis and Mr. Allen are teachers in the public schools of Greater New York.

AUTO ACCIDENT AT EMMONS

TWO PAINFULLY INJURED WHEN MACHINE IS FORCED OFF ROAD AND STRIKES POLE

Mrs. F. J. Mason Suffers Broken Nose and Rice Joslyn Has Leg Broken—Passing Car Speeds On—Sheriff Williams and Police Working on Case.

Rice Joslyn of 9 Richmond avenue and Mrs. F. J. Mason of Elmhurst, L. I., are in the Fox Memorial hospital suffering from painful injuries sustained late Saturday afternoon when on the state road near the stone house at Emmons their machine struck a telephone pole after a passing car had forced them from the road. Mrs. Mason suffered a broken nose and painful cuts on the face and Mr. Joslyn had his leg fractured in two places. Mr. Mason and his son, William E. Mason, who accompanied them, escaped with minor bruises.

The party were on their way to the city from Goodyear lake, where the Masons have been staying at the Strinsham camp. They were traveling about 15 miles an hour when a large machine approached from the rear and in passing cut ahead of them in a reckless manner, so that it hit the hub cap of their car. This caused their machine to veer from the road, and hit the telephone pole.

In a passing car the injured ones were hurried to the Fox Memorial hospital, where they were attended. At first it was feared that Mrs. Mason's injuries were more serious than examination finally revealed. However, she has been particularly unfortunate in that she is recovering from an operation performed at the Fox hospital in the spring. She will undergo an operation this morning for the purpose of straightening the bones in her nose.

The car was considerably damaged, the radiator being badly bent and the windshield shattered.

Owing to the confusion of the accident no one in the party is able to give a good description of the speeding machine. It was green in color, hung low to the ground and had a narrow radiator. Sheriff Williams was notified and came here Saturday night to work on the case in cooperation with local authorities.

OIL STOVE EXPLODED.

Firemen Called to South Main Street Home—No Damage Done.

An oil stove exploded in the home of Edward White, 9 South Main street, at 2:10 o'clock yesterday afternoon, but the flames were extinguished before any damage was done. Firemen were summoned but the fire was out when they arrived. Practically no damage was done outside of destroying the stove itself.

Oneontans at Library Meeting.

Mrs. Elizabeth Blackall, Librarian, Huntington Memorial Library, Oneonta, and Professor Arthur M. Curtis of the State Normal school are to be speakers at the thirty-first annual meeting of the New York Library association, September 12 to 17, at Ithaca. Mrs. Blackall speaks on the subject of "County Librarians" and Prof. Curtis on the subject, "The Library Trustee."

Boy Hit by Car on River Street.

John McGee of 217 River street reported to the police that while driving on River street near Mitchell avenue Saturday a small boy, whose name he did not know, ran in front of his car and was hit. The boy suffered only a slight bruise on his arm and it was not necessary to call a physician.

TELLS TWO STORIES

Syracuse Suspect in Weidman Murder Drove Hired Car to His Home

BLOOD STAINED SUIT FOUND

Scranton Officers Now in Syracuse to Follow Chase Against Geo. E. Hayward, Who Told Two Widely Differing Stories of How the Blood Stains Were Sustained.

Evidence is accumulating at Syracuse in the circumstantial case against George E. Hayward, son of the treasurer and vice president of the Heckerman & Hayward plan, in the probe of the murder of Harry P. Weidman at Scranton a week ago this morning. The youth has admitted being in Scranton the night of the Weidman murder, having driven the car seen near the scene of the crime to Syracuse the following day. He stole the license plate on the high-powered motor car used for the trip, from the car of his father.

Hayward tells incoherent and conflicting stories of his movements on the night Weidman was shot. He has contradicted himself several times. In his interviews with Chief Cadin and Detective Sidney J. Dillon, of the Syracuse force who had conducted the cross-questioning, Hayward has been plainly nervous and reluctant to tell the truth.

Just before the hold-up, a high-powered automobile, bearing license number 469-818, issued in New York State, had been seen following Weidman's car. The hold-up took place immediately after Weidman had put his car in the garage.

Shortly after the shooting, the same automobile, carrying two male passengers, was again reported, this time issuing from an alleyway not far from the scene of the murder.

License Issued to Syracuse Man.

Scranton police traced the license as having been issued to Heckerman & Hayward, iron workers, 1142 W. Belden avenue, Syracuse. Chief Cadin was notified, and warned to be on the lookout for the car. Syracuse detectives found the missing automobile in a local garage.

Blood-Stained Suit.

Discovery of a blood-stained suit of clothes is regarded by Chief Cadin as the strongest clue against young Hayward. It is a gray, brown, and black check of a rather startling pattern. One of the highwaymen was described by Weidman as having worn a "loud" suit of clothes.

The blood stains are so placed as to create the impression that they came on the cloth either in a hand-to-hand struggle between the wearer and a man badly wounded or in the attempt of the wearer, perhaps, to lift a badly wounded man to his feet.

There is one such heavy stain on the right breast of the coat, high up. Weidman was shot through the left breast and in a struggle such as described previously, such a stain would naturally follow.

Another heavy stain is seen on the right sleeve, along the inside of the arm—as if indicating that the arm had been thrown around a wounded man's shoulders. There are other stains on the coat, lower down, and on the trousers, where blood has obviously dripped.

Tells Two Stories.

One of the stains on the trousers, leg would indicate that the wearer was kneeling down at the time, or perhaps struggling on the ground.

Hayward has told two stories as to how his suit became blood-stained. To his mother he said that he had been in an automobile accident, shot Detective Smith and Ryan. To Chief Cadin, Hayward declared that he had "been in a fight with a Po-lack."

Where did this fight take place?

Chief Cadin asked "In Scranton," Hayward replied. "West Scranton."

"Yes."

"Sunday night?"

"Yes," Hayward answered, and refused to respond to any further questions.

Not Telling Truth.

It is obvious, at least, Cadin says, that Hayward is not telling the truth regarding the bloodstains. Police cannot see any reason why he should not—short of the case fitting their theories.

Evidence of Hayward's having gone about armed was secured in statements made to Detective Dillon by two Syracuse youths—friends of Hayward. These men told of a trip to the North Woods taken by them two weeks ago. Hayward and Jack Smith were members of the party.

Several times during the trip, these men say, Hayward exhibited a .25 caliber, automatic pistol, which it could be seen was loaded. Smith also carried a gun, a nickel-plated revolver of a commonplace type, the witnesses assert.

Search was then made of Hayward's home, and a dozen .25 caliber cartridges and the leather holsters were found in his room. He denied having left them there, and contradicted flatly the statement of his friends that he carried an automatic. Then he admitted ownership of both pistol and cartridges and declared he had pawned the gun in Wilkes-Barre.

Police believe they will have progressed considerably further in the case when Jack Smith is apprehended. Hayward denies all knowledge of Smith's present whereabouts.

ONEONTA GRANGE PICNIC

Fully Two Hundred Present at Annual Picnic at North Park—Addresses by Messrs. Barlow and Bowen Well-Contested Sports and—A Delicious Dinner.

A big annual event of the Oneonta Grange, perhaps one should say the big annual event—was the picnic, held on Saturday afternoon at North Park. The day, as everybody will admit, was delightful, and as a result the members of the grange were in attendance practically to the last man and woman. The members began to arrive at about 11 o'clock. The tables were promptly spread by the deft-handed women of the grange and at a little after noon the members sat down to the tables laden with such abundance of viands that if the board itself did not groan at least the partakers of the feast did at the close of it. Sandwiches of innumerable sorts, but all good, baked beans, succotash, jellies, meats, pies, cakes, cold and practically everything else which the skill of woman could in the culinary line devise, were in evidence and were crowded with generous and courteous insistence alike on member and visitor. There were over two hundred in attendance of members of the grange and their families and though all were fed to repletion there is no telling how many basketfuls were taken up after feast.

Following the dinner games were indulged in, men, women and the younger folk alike taking part. There were close contests, particularly in the tug-of-war, and the winners had no easy task in coming out ahead. The contests and winners were as follows:

Bean picking, a contest which produced much merriment, Mrs. H. S. Kerr, 1st; Mrs. H. H. Colburn, 2d; Miss M. Frederick, 3d.

Ladies' ball throwing—Mrs. M. Siskler, 1st; Mrs. B. VanDeusen, 2d; Mrs. C. Taylor, 3d.

50-yard dash for girls under 15 years—E. Fessler, G. Brown and J. Boyce winners in order named.

50-yard dash for boys—A. Brown, 1st; H. Giegory, 2d; E. Boyce, 3d.

Other events were a relay race for gentlemen, and a tug of war in which the married men proved they were double by pulling the single men over the mark.

A feature of the afternoon was the address by County Manager Floyd S. Barlow, followed by one on the same lines by County Farm Settlement Agent H. M. Bowen. Both urged more effectual cooperation of the Farm Bureau and other county activities, and in particular the consolidation of the Farm Bureau and the County Improvement society, which are organizations working along the lines in large extent similar and both with like purposes.

Later in the day a considerable number of the grangers attended the ball game between the Oneonta and Johnson City teams, while others remained for a pleasant social hour or two before returning home. The picnic was in charge of Philip M. Jenks, master of the grange, and to his efforts and those of his competent assistants on committees the success of the outing was largely due.

Back From Foreign Sea Service.

Richmond I. Munson, lately freeman, 1st class, on the United States destroyer Humphreys, arrived in Oneonta last evening from Newport, where his ship arrived Thursday, and is now at the home of his mother, Mrs. C. W. Munson, 32 Cliff street. For the past year Mr. Munson's ship has been attached to the Black Sea patrol, stationed at Constantinople, and on shore leave he had opportunity to visit among other historic cities Jerusalem, Haifa, Damascus and Cairo. Mr. Munson's two year term of enlistment has expired and for the present at least he will remain in this city.

FAST GAMES THIS WEEK

ONEONTA BASEBALL FANS WILL SEE THEIR TEAM IN THREE LIVELY CONTESTS ON THE HOME GROUNDS.

Brooklyn Royal Giants Here for Battle This Afternoon—Walton With Star Twirler Tomorrow—D. & H. Generals With 350 Fans Due Saturday—Tickets for Albany Game on Sale Wednesday.

Oneonta never saw better ball games than have been staged this year; and weather permitting, some of the best of them will be played this week. Today the Brooklyn Royal Giants are back; and reports have it that their star pitcher has been saved up for the contest. Each of the teams has won a game—the last time Oneonta came through in the 14th inning. The deciding game, with a crack pitcher in the box, should be a battle royal. Johnny Doughan will probably pitch for Oneonta.

Tomorrow Walton will be here with all the force they can muster. Hobbs, who defeated Oneonta on their diamond last week, will pitch again. The Walton team has been strengthened since they appeared here last time, but the Giants do expect to let them slip out of town with another victory.

Friday Stamford will be back for another game in the latest series of the season. The ability of Stamford's team cannot safely be discounted and for real downright rivalry there is nothing on the schedule to beat that between the Giants and the Mountaineers.

The week ends strong, for the D. & H. Generals are back for something they didn't get in 15 innings when they were here July 30. A special train will bring 350 rooters—even more than shouted themselves hoarse at the last game.

Tickets will go on sale Wednesday at McCarthy's, Horlick's, City Drug Store and Emory House on Broad street for the game with the Albany Eastern league team, to be played here Tuesday, September 6. Reserved seats will sell at $1.10 and general admission at 50 cents. The Albany Easterners have been going strong of late.

ONEONTA THEATRE TODAY ONLY AT 2:30, 7:00 AND 9:00 P. M.

BODY OF SERGEANT C. SLAVIN

Arrived August 21 in Hoboken and Will Soon Be Returned to Oneonta.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Slavin of 43 Prospect street have received notification from the military authorities that the body of their son, Sergeant Charles Robert Slavin, had arrived in Hoboken on August 21, from France, and that it awaited further instructions as to its disposal. Mr. and Mrs. Slavin have requested that it be sent to Oneonta, where it is expected to arrive at an early date. Upon its arrival announcement as to the final services will be made.

Sergeant Slavin was born in Oneonta June 6, 1898, and so was but a little over 20 years of age, when for his country and the world he made the supreme sacrifice. He enlisted in July, 1917, and as a member of Company K of the 9th regiment left for overseas in September of that year, being among the first American soldiers to actively engage in the conflict, as he is believed to have been the first from Oneonta to have been killed on the field of battle. He was with the allied forces during the great German offensive in March, 1918, and was again in battle in April, May and June. On July 18 he was wounded in action, but six weeks later was out of the hospital and with his regiment at the front, taking part in the victorious drive of September 22, when the backbone of the German drive was broken. He was killed in action in the Argonne forest on October 3 of that year, tidings of his demise reaching his parents on the sixth of November following, almost on the day when Germany sued for peace.

While no definite date can be given for the arrival of the body of Sergeant Slavin, there is no doubt that it will receive such recognition from the American Legion and from citizens of Oneonta, as is fitting in one who, probably the first to fall, will sleep at last in the city of his birth, and in sight of the green hills he loved so well.

LATEST VICINITY NOTES

Sanford Pramer, a resident of Sharon, who had his back broken by a falling tree in December last, died last week Friday at the home of his sister in Canastota. Until about five weeks ago he had been in the Amsterdam City hospital.

A troop of Boy Scouts has been organized at Cobleskill with 15 charter members. Regular meetings will be held every Friday evening.

The village of Cobleskill will vote September 6 on a proposition to expend $14,000 for sewer extension on Elm street and south of the D. & H. tracks.

Mrs. Grace Wormuth, who died at Cherry Valley this week Wednesday, was the oldest resident of that village, being in her 93d year. She was a communicant of Grace Episcopal church and for more than the ordinary lifetime of an individual had been a regular attendant on its services.

Albert Guy of Gloversville found a meteorite near Summit lake in Schoharie county, while tramping the hills in that vicinity last week. It weighed over 60 pounds and a remarkable fact about it is that Mr. Guy, then a resident of Richmondville, saw it fall to the earth 22 years ago. Its fall at that time illuminated the sky for a great distance, and though often sought, the meteor was never found until last week.

TWO ROUGH CHARACTERS

Police Take Into Custody Men Who Boasted They Couldn't Be Caught—Search Reveals Brand New Gun in One's Possession.

By taking two rough looking characters into custody Saturday night, the police made a better catch than at first was anticipated. The men gave no information that might establish their real identity, for before the police finished questioning them Saturday night they gave several names. One said he came from Pennsylvania; the other said he had had no home since he was released from the army last month.

Search of the men brought forth a brand new 38 calibre revolver with a holster that one of them carried in his pocket. The gun was carried outside of the holster as though for ready use. The charge against this man will be for carrying concealed weapons and the other will be held as a state tramp.

Loud boasting on the part of the men led to their arrest. They entered the Grandall lunch room on Lower Chestnut street and there told of their prowess as evaders of officers and detectives. This led some one to call the police. When the officer arrived, however, the men were quiet. Later they walked right into the arms of the law.

They came into the city and were arrested by Chief Horton, who by passing Municipal hall. They will be arraigned before Judge Frank C. Huntington in the city court this morning.

COUNTY PICNIC WEDNESDAY

Hoped Many Members of Motor Club Will Enter Run.

A silver vase for the winner of the secret time automobile run Wednesday to the County Picnic at the County Farm at Pleasant Mills, has been announced as the prize to be won in the automobile run. The run will be held at 10 o'clock, the time of the run will be held at 10 o'clock, the time of the run will be held at 10 o'clock.

The affair at the County Farm will be a basket picnic, so that each party is expected to provide their own lunch, but there will be a milk bar and other refreshment booths on the grounds.

Announced by the Farm Bureau, which is arranging the county wide get-together, the picnic program provides for a number of interesting demonstrations in the forenoon beginning at 11 o'clock. The only address of the day will be given in the afternoon by Milo D. Campbell of Coldwater, Mich., who is president of the National Milk Producers' association and who incidentally has been prominently mentioned for appointment to the Federal Trade commission which the last week.

This will be followed by a base ball game between the Milford and Springfield Center teams and other features. The Cooperstown band will furnish music during the day.

As this is the first county gathering participated in by all organizations representing the various communities, Oneonta is expected to send a large delegation to the picnic and demonstrate the feeling of cordiality and interest which exists between the city and the other communities in Otsego county.

Those not having cars who are desirous of attending the picnic with the Oneonta motorists, are urged to telephone the Chamber of Commerce, and transportation to the County Farm and return will be gladly furnished. The committees hope that every car going to the picnic will carry its load of passengers, so that the Oneonta delegation will be as large as possible.

POTS AND PANS ARE PROBLEMS

Washing Soda in Hot Soapy Water Great Aid in Keeping Metal Ware Spick and Span.

How to keep the pots and pans clean and shiny is one of the problems every housewife has to face. Judging from the comments heard when women are talking over household matters.

The home economics workers at the state college of agriculture say a small amount of washing soda in the hot soapy water in which the pots and pans are washed every time they are used is a great help.

A pound of the washing soda to four quarts of water makes a solution of the right strength to add to the wash water.

Where it is necessary to scour metal, it is said that in general whitening as a scouring substance will give the metals the least wear. The acid of common foods such as rhubarb, tomatoes, lemons, or oranges will often remove discolorations.

How to Clean Aluminum.
Whitening moistened with any food acid such as those mentioned above is good for aluminum. Washing soda should not be used as the alkali it contains darkens this metal.

A weak soda solution will remove grease from brass and whitening and a dilute acid will remove tarnish. Brass may be polished with rotten stone and sweet oil, and dried with a soft cloth. Copper may be cleaned in the same way.

Nickel Plate Needs Care.
Too much scrubbing with harsh substances soon wears off nickel plate. Daily care with hot water and soap prevents tarnish. Whitening moistened with ammonia will polish nickel.

Badly discolored tin may be freshened by boiling two or three minutes in a strong solution of soda and water. The tinware should be removed at once, washed, rinsed and dried.

Kerosene is the best cleaning agent for porcelain. Abrasives remove the glaze. Iron rust may be removed with dilute hydrochloric acid. Porcelain should be washed and rinsed thoroughly after the acid has been used.

SAYS GERMANS HIDE WOOD-PULP SECRETS

Prevent Books on Cellulose Chemistry From Leaving Country, Is Charge.

A bulletin issued by the American Chemistry society asserts that "German science, adopting a war policy in days of peace, has placed a ban upon the exportation of certain books relating to processes for handling wood pulp and other forms of cellulose." Speaking of German secrecy on her new discoveries and formulas, Dr. Harold Hilbert, chairman of the cellulose section of the society, said he had proof that German publishers were withholding books from "germs."

"The important part played by cotton during the recent war," said Doctor Hilbert, "as a source of high explosives of which gun cotton is the base, is too well known to call for special comment. It should be pointed out, however, that a satisfactory nitro-cellulose, or gun cotton, can also be made from wood pulp. Thus, a thorough understanding of the chemical and physical properties of wood cannot but be regarded as a 'national safety factor' for any country dependent on outside sources for its supplies of cotton."

Germany for years has given the closest possible attention to the preservation and perpetuation of her forest resources. As a result of the intensive study of the chemistry of wood she could, in the event of any future effort at world conquest, free herself from all dependence on outside sources of cotton by drawing upon wood supplies in Finland, Sweden, Norway, and in her own forest domain.

"The need for good scientific and technical literature on the subject of cellulose chemistry has been realized for some considerable time. To our regret, however, it must be admitted that we are today dependent to some extent upon Germany for scientific data relating to the chemistry of cellulose in the various forms of that substance, such as cotton, wood and cereals."

"Does Germany propose to monopolize this field? An indication that such is her intention is revealed in the extensive financial support which is at present being given to the study of cellulose in the Kaiser Wilhelm Institute and in various German universities and forestry and textile schools. The Germans have in the last few months also started a new magazine devoted to paper."

"Another and very significant evidence of her intent is the restriction she has placed on the exportation of certain scientific books dealing with cellulose chemistry. It is now impossible to buy such textbooks from German publishers without signing a statement in which the purchaser agrees not to transport the book outside of Germany. For instance, an application for a copy of Schwaib's Textbook on Cellulose Chemistry was made by an American professor through a well-known German publishing house. The application was met with the demand for a written promise that the book would not be taken out of Germany."

FIND NEW CITIES OF ANCIENT MAYA

OLD CAPITAL IS EXCAVATED

Greatest Native Civilization Which America Produced Once Flourished in What Is Now Desolate and Forgotten Region.

Washington.—After having discovered and unearthed ancient and forgotten cities that once were the center of America's civilization, and after having begun to recover the ancient learning for the Maya people from their Indian descendants, the Carnegie Institution Central American expedition for 1921, which penetrated the region of Guatemala, in the department of Peten, at the base of the Yucatan peninsula, has returned to this city.

The expedition, under the direction of Dr. Sylvanus G. Morley, associate in American archeology of the institution, left Washington early in January. The other investigators were Dr. C. E. Guthe and William Gates, both research associates of the institution.

The activities of the field season consisted of the exploration of the forests of northern Peten in search for new centers of this ancient civilization under the direction of Doctor Morley, the excavation of Tayasal, the last Itza (a Maya tribe) capital, located upon an island in the Lake of Peten Itza, in northern central Peten, by Doctor Guthe, and a first-hand study of the Maya language as spoken today in northern British Honduras, and also by the Quiche, a Maya tribe living in the highlands of Guatemala, by Mr. Gates.

Unearth Ancient Cities.
Following along the chicla (the substance from which chewing gum is made) trails which traverse this region, Doctor Morley's party discovered several new cities during the course of the field season, in what appears to have been the very heart of the old Maya empire.

Doctor Guthe's excavations at Tayasal proved equally fruitful. The principal plaza of that city was located, and the work of clearing away the earth and fallen masonry from the principal structures was commenced.

The peninsula of Yucatan, juts up into the Gulf of Mexico like the great thumb of a giant hand, pointing northward. It is 250 miles wide, and before it finally takes root in the continental land mass far to the south, gradually merging into the foothills of the Cordillera, it is 400 miles long.

This region, a limestone formation of recent geological age, has gradually emerged from the floor of the Caribbean sea, and is now overgrown with a dense sub-tropical jungle. It supports, in fact, an almost continuous forest of mahogany, rubber, Santa Maria, celiba, chicozapote (the "chewing gum" tree), and many other sub-tropical trees, which so completely covers the country that one may travel in this bush for days without seeing an open space large enough to accommodate a modern bungalow comfortably.

In this now desolate and forgotten region there developed during the first fifteen centuries of the Christian era the greatest native civilization which America produced, namely, that of the ancient Maya of southern Mexico and northern Central America.

Here great cities grew up, filled with temples, pyramids, palaces and monasteries, built of finely carved limestone, which were grouped around paved squares and courts.

Once Brilliant People.
In these spacious plazas beautifully sculptured monuments were erected, their sides inscribed with elaborate hieroglyphic writings, setting forth important historical and astronomical facts. A dense population, highly organized under strongly centralized governments, flourished in the region, the vanguard of civilization in the New World.

But in the course of centuries pestilence, drought, civil war and famine overtook the Maya, so that when the Spaniards landed on the east coast of Yucatan in 1519, under Francisco de Montejo, the last remnant of this once brilliant people fell an easy prey to the shock of foreign conquest, and they were speedily reduced to dependence and slavery. Their once magnificent cities were abandoned, vast sections being actually depopulated, and the tropical jungle again crept over the region, until today these former centers of life and human activity lie buried in the grip of a dense forest, and crumbling walls and piles of fallen masonry overgrown with giant trees alone bear melancholy witness to former pomp and glory.

Investigations in this remote and inaccessible region may only be carried on under enormous difficulties. It is only very slowly, with infinite pains and at high cost, that this region is being made to yield its archeological secrets and the truth about our foremost native American civilization is gradually being made known.

HOME FROM MADISON, WIS.

Secretary Hicks and T. A. Crounse Return from Summer School of Community Leadership.

After two weeks of instructive study at the seventh annual session of the Summer school of Community Leadership at the University of Wisconsin, Secretary Everett Hicks of Oneonta Chamber of Commerce and Thurston A. Crounse returned from Madison Wis., yesterday. The Oneonta Chamber was also represented among the 200 secretaries and students present by Walter Parcelle of Mount Vernon, a member of the field staff of the American City Bureau, and the first man to join the reorganized Chamber during the campaign last January, and Charles E. Westervelt, former secretary, now of Northampton, Mass.

Mr. Westervelt, in addition to being editor of the student daily, was elected last week as vice president of the Student association, a distinct honor. "Charlie" also was leader of an interesting study group. Mr. Parcelle taught classes in public, community advertising, and kindred subjects.

On his return trip, Secretary Hicks visited Adrian and Pontiac, Mich., to investigate the plan operating in those cities of a community market, a co-operative organization acting as a wholesale commission house for all farm produce by buying direct from farmers, selling direct to dealers, and shipping to other cities the foodstuffs not needed on the local market. A public report on this investigation will probably be given at an early date.

Campbell Picnic at Cliffside.

The descendants and sons and daughters-in-law of Mrs. Caroline Campbell of this city, with their children, held a very delightful picnic noon at the F. J. Campbell camp at Cliffside on Goodyear lake. Those present, besides Mrs. Campbell, were the families of F. M. Campbell, F. J. Campbell, W. D. Butler and Arthur Germond of this city and of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. White of Rochester. Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Butler of West End were also guests at the gathering.

Average Reduction on All Models Since Last Year

Price Now—$1895

And remember that for five years, including last year, when it sold at $2,600, the Hudson Super-Six was the largest selling fine car in the world.

At its new price of $1,895 doesn't it represent incomparably the greatest value in the fine car market?

No judicious buyer today makes his choice without comparing not only the present price of cars, but also their relative values as indicated by the position and reputation they have held for years.

Such comparison today directs intensified interest upon Hudson.

It Redoubles Hudson's Value Advantage

There is no need to call attention to the quality, ability and distinction of Hudson. Its leadership in these is a long acknowledged position. It is now in its sixth year as the largest selling fine car. In every way that proof can be offered it has established its right to that eminence.

Many of its official records are of five years' standing. They have been challenged incessantly. Isn't it significant that five years of intensive competition has produced no rival to outstrip them?

And consider that many Super-Sixes are today rendering smooth, dependable duty after more than 100,000 miles of service.

Does any car within its new price range deserve consideration upon the basis of comparative proofs?

And among higher priced cars where will you find any desirable quality that Hudson at $1,895 does not give in equal measure?
